THE INVESTIGATION.

Lady Mountmorris Gives Her Testimony.

BLAME ON THE LAND LEAGUE.

A Lively Scene in the Court Room—The Judge and Counsel Have a Set-to.

LONDON, November 16.—Proceedings in the Parnell commission to-day was made interesting by the appearance on the witness stand of Lady Mountmorris, whose husband was murdered at Clonbar, County Galway. Lady Mountmorris testified that a friendly feeling existed between her husband and his tenants on the Eberhall estates at Clonbar until the Land League began to hold meetings there. In July, 1880, her husband obtained a writ of ejectment against his tenants. In the following September, while witness was in Scotland, her husband was shot. She went to Ireland to attend his funeral. She heard the men refused to assist in putting the coffin into the hearse. Witness left Eberhall in October. While on her way to the steamer she

PEOPLE LAUGHED AND Hooted HER.

A stone was thrown at her 8-year-old son. Her husband received threatening notices only after the League meetings had been held.

Sir Charles Russell, counsel for the Parnellites, was proceeding with the cross examination of Lady Mountmorris upon the exact date of the League meetings alluded to, when the witness fainting, and would have fallen to the floor had not a court officer caught her. Sir Charles thereupon intimated he would not proceed in the cross-examination. Constable Drummond, of Clonbar, testified that during the inquiry into the murder of Lord Mountmorris he could not get any assistance from the people. After the formation of the Land League he noticed a decided change in the manner of the people towards their landlords. On cross-examination.

HE ATTRIBUTED THE HOSTILITY

of the people toward Lord Mountmorris, partly to his conduct as magistrate and partly to his attitude on the land question. Davitt then cross-examined witness, and elicited the statement that Lord Mountmorris led the people to believe he held secret communications with Dublin Castle authorities.

Sergeant O'Connor testified he saw a number of men, with their hands joined, dancing around some marks of blood on the spot where Lord Mountmorris was murdered.

Sir Henry James, of the Times' counsel, announced he now proposed to give evidence in relation to the

OUTRAGES COMMITTED IN COUNTY KERRY.

Sir Charles Russell protested. He said it was very difficult to follow the case if the prosecutors moved from one county to another without the evidence connecting the outrages with the persons accused.

Presiding Justice Hannan agreed with Sir Charles, and said the commission could not follow the evidence by the method in which it was proposed to give it only with enormous difficulty, but when assured by counsel that there was no other means to shorten the case than the course proposed, the court was bound to assent.

Sir Charles Russell thereupon said warmly: "All I can do, then, is to protest against the course, which certainly will not conduce to facilitate the inquiry."

PAT SULLIVAN'S TESTIMONY.

Pat Sullivan, a farmer of County Kerry, was then examined. He said in June, 1884, a man came to his door and calling him out shot him. After he recovered from his wound he was called upon to attend a meeting of the League, where he was asked to let a particular tenant off with a reduction of rent, to which he gave assent. When cross-examined witness said he did not connect the shooting with any member of the League. Sullivan was then re-examined by Attorney-General Webster, who asked: "Since you came here, to-day, have you spoken to either of the Messrs. Harrington or Timothy?"

Harrington, rising from his place in the counsel's seat, said: "I never remember having seen witness before." Edward Harrington, who was seated behind the bench, also arose and exclaimed: "This is an unfair imputation. I never saw the man before to-day. It is hard to have our names thus dragged in."

Justice Hannan, addressing Timothy Harrington, said: "This proceeding is quite irregular. You ought to know you cannot take a part in this case both as counsel and witness."

Harrington replied: "I did not appear as a witness."

HANNAN—You cannot interfere at all.

HARRINGTON—The attorney-general mentioned my name and I must request you to offer me the protection of the court.

HANNAN—Let the court's journal. We must maintain decorum. The judges left the bench hurriedly, amid a scene of great excitement.

Counsel for both sides remained in their places.

Harrington consulted with counsel for defense.

The judges were absent ten minutes when they resumed their places.

Harrington said he had not meant any disrespect to the court. Hannan responded: "All persons alike must obey the decisions of the courts. I am glad to receive your statement."

The taking of evidence was resumed.

A False Rumor.

WASHINGTON, November 16.—The statement that ex-Minister Foster presented claims for $5,000,000 against Mexico is declared untrue here. Foster went to Mexico on private business, and presented no claims.
